Update on SPP Rotating Outages

[LUBBOCK, TX] –SPP Update: At 11:15 a.m. today, SPP is no longer under an energy emergency alert. Due to continuing cold weather, it remains in a period of conservative operations until 10 p.m. tonight. Early this morning, SPP was teetering between at Level 1 and 2 and our members answered the call to conserve, so we didn't have to implement rotating outages.
